KOREAN TRADITIONAL ALCOHOL

Traditionally, Korean rice brews fall under the categories of takju, yakju, and soju. All three are derived from the same brewing process: Rice is fermented with nuruk, a wheat cake fermentation starter that lends traditional brews their characteristic funk.

Chungcheong Bukdo

Bottle Glass (50ml)

풍정사계 하 Pungjeong Sagye “Ha” (500ml / 18.0%)

①

990

“Sagye” (four seasons) is derived from the natural surroundings of Pungjeong and dedicated to four different sool. “Ha” (Summer) is fortified chungju (clear wine) called Gwahaju. The gwahaju displays savory vegetal notes with cooked legume character coming from hand made nuruk.

세종대왕 어주 Sejong the Great Eo Joo (500ml / 15.0%)

②

990

Sejong the Great Eo Joo is brewed in Chojung, the city famous for the purest water in Korea as well as where the king Sejong’s favourite place for his summer vacations. Based on the ancient recipe created by the royal physician, it is fermented over 90 days for its unique complexity of sweetness and refreshing notes.

일엽편주 Ell Yeop Pyun Joo (375ml / 15.0%)

③

990

Named after a phrase of a poem written by a famous scholar from Joseon Dynasty, Nong-Am Lee Hyun Bo, this historical chungju has inherited his legacy brewed by his family for centuries. The subtle rice notes with fruity flavours and sweetness are well balanced by acidity.

Jeju

오메기 맑은술 Omegi Malgunsool (500ml / 16.0%)

④

890

148

Fermented with traditional omegi rice cake made with foxtail millet, and purified water from Jeju Island, Omegi Malgunsool is a medicinal liquor that gives a natural fruit scent, with hints of sweetness and a clean finish.

Gangwondo

모월 Mowol-yeon (500ml / 13.0%)

⑤

650

Mowol-yeon is a i-yangju which has been fermented twice with nuruk and grains. No artificial additives are added, and the alcohol is aged over 100 days. Therefore, it has a clean taste with malted grain flavour.

KOREAN TRADITIONAL ALCOHOL

Gyeonggido Bottle Glass (50ml)

붉은 원숭이 탁주 Red Monkey Takju (375ml / 10.8%) ⑥ 420

A makgeolli with bright crimson color from red rice yeast, Red Monkey Takju is famous for its unique fruity flavours reminding strawberry and raspberry created from the rice.

Gyeongsang Bukdo

복순도가 막걸리 Boksoondoga Makgeolli (935ml / 6.5%) ⑦ 780

The champagne of makegeolli, Boksoondoga is lively with a delicate effervescence. The natural carbonation is produced out of nuruk fermentation, which provides a refreshing sensation similar to that of champagne, along with rich and mild tastes, and a clean finish.

Chungcheong Namdo

능이주 Neung-i-ju (375ml / 13.0%) ⑧ 550 98

Neung-i-ju is a medicinal liquor made with Neung-i, mushrooms typically found in the wild and prized for its musky fragrance and earthy flavour.

한산소곡주(우희열 명인) Hansan Sogokju (360ml / 18.0%) ⑨ 380

Made from clean underground water and locally produced agricultural ingredients, Hansan Sogokju contains sweetness from glutinous rice, spiciness of ginger, together with light nuance of camomile and malted grain flavour.

왕주 Wang-ju (375ml / 13.0%) ⑩ 380

A royal liquor from the Joseon Dynasty, Wang-ju is brewed using bedrock water, wild chrysanthemum, goji berries and pine needles, resulting in an herbal scent with sweetness and mild acidity.

Soju

대장부 Dae-Jang-Bu (375ml / 25.0%) 490 98

The premium soju Dae-Jang-Bu 25 (25%) is distilled from 100% rice, carefully raised in Korea and milled 24%. It is manufactured with craftsman to achieve full bodied flavour with mildest taste.

일엽편주 소주 Ell Yeop Pyun Joo Soju (375ml / 38.0%) 1200

Made in the historic brewery inheriting Nong-Am Lee Hyun Bo, this premium soju instantly spreads its unique bitter-sweetness with a sip. The soft and sweet flavour created by atmospheric distillation using traditional yeast will be stronger and deeper over time.
