The Wines at Graycliff

Welcome to the Graycliff Wine Collection.

We hope to share our love for wines with you, to enhance your culinary experience at Graycliff Restaurant and Hotel. Our team of sommeliers is happy to offer advice for wine pairing with your meal.

It's not just their job, it's their passion.

Wine Cellar Tours

Some evenings we may offer some guests a limited opportunity to tour the wine cellar at Graycliff.

We encourage you to ask your waiter whether a tour is available after your meal.

The wine cellar is located in a wonderfully unique environment. It is housed in a former garrison & passageway that was created more than 300 years ago; the passageways are narrow and the ceilings low compared to today's standards.

Because of these physical constraints, we humbly request that guests do not bring lit cigars or their drinks, as well as any large bag to the wine cellar.

Thank you for your cooperation and enjoy your tour.

IN PRAISE OF WINE

"Good company, good wine, good welcome, makes good people".

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE

Why do I drink Champagne for breakfast?
Doesn't everyone?

NOEL COWARD

"Wine measurably drank, and in season, bringeth gladness to the heart and cheerfulness to the mind".

ECCLESIASTICUS 31:28

"A house with great wine stored below lives in our imagination as a joyful house, fast and splendidly rooted in the soil".

GEORGE MEREDITH

In victory one deserves Champagne.
In defeat, one needs it!

NAPOLEON BONAPARTE

CHAMPAGNE

The name of Champagne is limited not only to a defined area but to a process through which every drop of wine must go before it can claim the name.

There are different sweetness levels, derived from the amount of sugar added during dosage, this is communicated using a separate set of terminologies on the label. These include:

Brut Nature: Little or no sugar is added
(less than 3 grams of sugar per litre).

Extra Brut: Slightly sweeter, yet still perceived as dry on the palate
(less than 6 grams of sugar per litre).

Brut: The most popular type of Champagne; still considered fairly dry
(less than 12 grams of sugar per litre).

Extra Dry: Slightly sweeter than Brut
(between 12 and 17 grams of sugar per litre).

Sec: Noticeably sweet
(between 17 and 32 grams of sugar per litre).

Demi-Sec: Sweeter than Sec
(between 32 and 50 grams of sugar per litre).

Doux: The sweetest level
(more than 50 grams of sugar per litre).

CÔTE DE BEAUNE

The white wines of the Côte de Beaune made from Chardonnay grapes are considered to be the best in the world, with wines from individual villages like Meursault having stellar reputations.

its white wines, with elegance, minerality, and complex aromas, ranging from light and floral to richer textured, often exhibiting citrus, and honeyed notes with an elegant oak influence.

The pinnacle, representing exceptional wines from highly esteemed vineyards, that include Montrachet, Corton-Charlemagne, and Meursault.

Pairs wonderfully with seafood, poultry, creamy sauces, white meats, and rich cheeses.

CHABLIS

The town of Chablis produces some of the world's best known white wines.

Chablis white wines are different from other Burgundy white wines; generally being 'drier'. They are crisp because the producers vinify in stainless steel tanks.

Chablis is also a generic name for white wines (sometimes pink) made outside of France. These wines can be made from a variety of grapes and are usually medium sweet to sweet.

ALSACE

The wine of Alsace reflects the special circumstances in this border province.

Alsace makes Germanic wines in the French way. The difference; the Germans look for sweetness, the Alsatians for strength.

German wine can best be enjoyed in the drawing room, or the garden.

The Gewuerztraminer is the perfect introduction to Alsace. Amazing that so fruity a scent could come from a wine so clean and dry.

Excellent when served alongside some of the richest dishes like goose and pork.

RHONE, THE LOIRE VALLEYS AND CÔTES DU PROVENCE

Even if they are spread over 600 miles of France, with wide variations of climate, soil, tradition, and four or five different grape sorts, these wines have a real family likeness: they are light, grapey, appetizing and charming.

They divide clearly between the dry wines to the east (Sancerre and Pouilly) and the west (Muscadet) and the sweeter wines of Touraine and Anjou in the middle.

The Valley of the Loire and the Valley of the Rhone are two sides of the same coin.

Rhone wines range from the excellent and strong orange and pink rose of Tavel to the powerful soft fruit scent of the Chateauneuf Du Pape to the collector's wines of Condrieu with the inner sanctum four acre estate of Chateau Grillet, the smallest vineyard with its own Appellation Controlee in France.

WHITE BORDEAUX & SAUTERNES

Graves as a whole is known chiefly for its white wines; dry to medium sweet, pale yellow, with a peculiar, faintly chemical or metallic character, the best example is Chateau Carbonnieux.

Chateau Haut Brion, has a very pronounced yellow color, beautiful bouquet, dry with a good body and flavour... the relative of the greatest red of the region.

The famous white wine of Sauternes is a specialty which finds its only real rival not in France at all but in Germany.

The special technique used takes full advantage of the peculiar form of the mold (known as Botrytis Cinerea) which forms on the grapes, leaving the sugar and the flavouring elements in the juice more concentrated. The result is wine with an intensity of taste and scent, and a smooth, almost oil like texture, which can be made no other way.

Chateau d'Yquem was made a First Great Growth - a rank created for it alone in all Bordeaux in 1855.

It is a sublime, very sweet, rich textured, flower scented, glittering golden liquid.

The king of the white wines and probably the most expensive one.

FRENCH RED & BORDEAUX

B

RED BORDEAUX - ST. ESTEPHE

The Graves bank gives the Medoc and its wine their quality and character, stretching along the shore of the river Gironde.

It is the northern most of the four famous counties which are the heart of the Medoc. A little "jalle" divides it from Pauillac, sharing on the one hand, the vineyards of Chateau Lafite, on the other, three classed growths of St. Estephe, namely Chateau Cos d' Estournel, Lafite-Rochet and Cos-labory.

The wines have more acidity, are fuller, solid, often have less perfume, but fill your mouth with flavour.

They are sturdy clarets which become with age, gentle but still vigorous.

Chateau Cos d' Estournel is the most spectacular of the classed growths.

RED BORDEAUX - PAUILLAC

If one had to single out one commune of Bordeaux to head the list, there would be no argument.

It would be Pauillac.

Chateaux Lafite, Latour and Mouton Rothschild, three out of the first five of the Medoc and Graves, are its obvious claim.

But many claret lovers would tell you that the wines of Pauillac have the quintessential flavour they look for in Bordeaux - a combination of fresh soft fruit, oak, dryness, subtlety combined with substance, a touch of cigar box, with a suggestion of sweetness.

Even the lesser growths of Pauillac receive accolades for their character as a claret.

RED BORDEAUX - ST. JULIEN

No other commune in Bordeaux has so high a proportion of classed growths as St. Julien.

It is a small commune, with the smallest production of the famous four of the Medoc, but almost all of it is superlative wine growing land, typical dunes of gravel, not as deep as in Pauillac but very close to the river and consequently well drained.

If Pauillac makes the most striking and brilliant wine of the Medoc, and Margaux the most refined and exquisite, St Julien forms the transition between the two.

RED BORDEAUX - MARGAUX

By many accounts this southern most stretch of the Haut Medoc, makes the finest wine of all.

Margaux has a tight concentration of classed growths. The soil of Margaux is the thinnest in the Medoc, with the highest proportion of rough gravel.

The result is wines which start life comparatively "supple", that can mature into the finest on earth.

There is a delicacy about good Margaux, and a sweet haunting perfume, which makes it the most exquisite claret of all.

The wines of Chateau Margaux and Chateau Palmer next door are the ones which most often reach such heights.

RED BORDEAUX - ST. ÉMILION

St. Émilion is the second most important growing area in Bordeaux after the Médoc.

Because of the clay soil, the dominant grape is Merlot, so the wines are generally softer and more drinkable at an earlier age.

St. Émilion wines are lighter than their Cabernet dominant counterparts from the Left Bank but offer more complexity and structure than Merlot-heavy Right Bank neighbors.

With such a variety of wines we encourage you to look for a chateau name on the label for more refined style of wine and to explore different vintages of a wine to experience the impact of aging.

Enjoy your journey into the world of St. Émilion wines!

HAUT MÉDOC

Haut-Médoc, located in the south of the Médoc region in France, is renowned for its powerful and elegant red wines, primarily made from a blend of Cabernet Sauvignon, Merlot, and Cabernet Franc.

There is a long history dating back to Roman times. Gravelly soils contribute to structure and elegance.

Despite their power, they showcase balance and finesse, so expect tannins & firm acidity.

Wonderfully pairs with grilled meats, stews, roasted vegetables, rich cheeses.

RED BORDEAUX - GRAVES

The district of Graves takes its name from its gravel and sandy soil.

Only a small part of the big region reaches distinction; the part near Bordeaux where the majority of the wines are red. They have much in common with the stouter and drier wines of the Médoc.

The greatest red Graves can, in their own distinctive way be equivalent of the best wines even of Pauillac and Margaux.

The fact was recognized by the authorities who classed Chateau Haut Brion with three Chateaux of the Medoc as a first growth.

RED BORDEAUX - POMEROL

Located on the east side of the Dordogne river, this is the smallest of the fine wine producing districts in Bordeaux.

Although Romans had vineyards in Pomerol hundreds of years ago, it was known only for "good common" wine.

Yet today, its best Chateau can fetch the same price as the first growth of the Medoc. For such a small area, with an astonishing number of properties, these are generally agreed to be among the best in the whole of Bordeaux.

The Pomerols are the gentlest, richest, most instantly appealing clarets.

They have deep colours without the acidity and tannin that often goes with it. A comforting ripe smell and sometimes great concentration of all their qualities; the striking essence of a great wine.

RED BURGUNDY & BEAUJOLAIS

In Burgundy, Bourgogne en Francais, most of the land belongs to small farmers. The total production of its fine wine is 1/10th the size of Bordeaux.

By far the richest and most important area is the Cote d'Or, located in the center, composed of the Cote de Nuits and Cote de Beaune.

The Cote d'Or has a monopoly of the best red vineyards, and produces what its growers consider the finest red wine on earth.

Clos Vougeot on the southern border of Chambolle is considered the claret of Burgundy. It is markedly drier than most Burgundies, & has the most beautiful scent in Burgundy.

The wine of the tiny vineyard of Romanee Conti has something special about its fragrance which makes it immediately recognizable.

Beaujolais is different from most of Burgundy because it focuses on the Gamay grape instead of Pinot noir. And its winemaking process is different, which enables it to produce a light red wine with intense colour, a fresh fruity flavour and low tannins. In short a wine that can be drunk young.

CLASSICAL ITALIAN REDS

Renaissance is not too strong word for what has happened to the Italian wine industry in recent years.

Barolo and Barbaresco are big, fruity, fine wines with a scent of raspberries and mushrooms. Great wine to drink with a roast. Chianti, the best known of all Italian wines, is not to be drunk young.

The "riservas" appear on the market at about eight years old. They have character, delicacy and great smoothness. A velvety sap on a slightly bitter almond taste. It is superb wine for red meats.

Brunello di Montalcino with its ruby/orange colour great finesse and elegance round but dry is now considered at par with the first growths of Bordeaux. Must be served quite warm (22oC) and is the perfect marriage with red meats and strong cheeses.

We suggest to decant even the younger years for breathing.

WINES FROM THE UNITED STATES

AMERICAN WINES

California is where some of the most exciting developments have been taking place in the world of wine over the past decades

Chardonnay has been the most spectacularly successful California varietal and can be light, heavy, fruity, bitter or oaky

Cabernet Sauvignon is another European wine, that has taken well to northern California. But because of soil differences, and the warmer climate, it makes a wine of different weight and style to Bordeaux.

Oregon boasts a reputation for crafting exceptional wines, particularly Pinot Noir, but its offerings extend far beyond this single grape.

Oregon wines emphasize fresh fruit flavors and balanced acidity, minimizing excessive oak influence.
