ELLERMAN HOUSE

RELAIS & CHATEAUX

INTRODUCTION

Twenty-six years ago we set out to create a wine collection of unparalleled standards and quality. Each of the 9,000 bottles, housed in our professionally maintained cellars, represents the very best wines from the world-renowned estates and vineyards of the Western Cape. We invite you to explore our three climate-controlled wine cellars and discover for yourself some of the rare and special vintages we currently list.

We also have the revolutionary Coravin and Le Verre de Vin wine preservation systems. This allows us to pour premium still and sparkling wines by the glass without compromising on quality, giving you the widest choice of excellent wines.

Our attention to detail has been recognised by Diners Club in their Wine List competition, which has given us the highest accolade from 2009 - 2019 consecutively - a Diamond Award, and in 2012 we were recognised by Food24 as having “The Best Long List” in South Africa in their independent wine list competition.

Our selection of rare and vintage wines, some as old as 1982, guarantee memorable moments at the table, especially when combined with our exceptional cuisine. We are always on the lookout for new and exciting wines. We source wines from both established and emerging vineyards as well as from prestigious wine auctions, such as Nederburg and the Cape Wine Makers Guild.

To continue with our passion and dedication to South African wines and in the interest of only listing wines when they are at their optimal drinking, we have dedicated sections of our cellars to the investment and maturation of young vintages.

SOMMELIER

I have opened thousands of bottles of wine in my life, all over the world.

Every time I open a bottle, it is like unlocking a special or specific time and place. Every glass has something different to say; each wine represents a journey, passion, history, family, happiness and celebration somewhere. I look forward to uncorking new moments and building new memories through our wine list.

WINE GALLERY

We invite you to explore our Wine Gallery.

More like a work of art than merely a cellar, the wine gallery provides sophisticated storage in state-of-the-art wine racks and temperature controlled subterranean cellars for a 7500-strong collection of vintage and rare wines.

The handcrafted nature of South Africa's finest wines and the organic shape of grapevines are reflected in the use of natural, earthy materials like wood, granite and metal, carbon polished, sculpted, carved or left raw to reveal the innate, intrinsic beauty of each element. Besides being an inspiring, experiential space in which to taste wine, the gallery includes an interactive multi-media wine library, maturation cellars for white and red wines and a brandy tasting lounge. A special feature is a Champagne Cellar where you can find rare and special vintages of Dom Pérignon, Moët & Chandon and the best of South African Méthode Cap Classique.

The Wine Gallery aims to bring life to South Africa's 350 year old heritage of winemaking, providing an environment for tasting and learning about local wines as intriguing and inspiring as the wine itself. The Wine Gallery is more than a cellar, it is the perfect place for a wine dinner or daily wine tasting. Please check with our concierge to confirm availability.

OFFICIAL PARTNERS 2018

WINE & FOOD PAIRING

Pairing your wine with the correct dish will enhance your dining experience. The main concept behind this is that certain elements, such as texture and flavour, in both food and wine react differently with each other and finding the right combination of these elements will make the entire dining experience more enjoyable. However, taste and enjoyment are very subjective and what may be a 'perfect' pairing for us, could be less enjoyable for you. Most food and wine experts believe that the basic element of food and wine pairing is understanding the balance between the 'weight' of the food and the 'weight' (or body) of the wine.

Heavy, robust wines like Cabernet Sauvignon can overwhelm a light delicate dish, like quiche, while light-bodied wines like Pinot Noir would be similarly overwhelmed by a hearty stew.

Weight, flavour and textures can either be contrasted or complemented. Food and wine pairing also takes into consideration the sugar, acid, alcohol and tannins of the wine and how they can be accentuated or minimised when paired with certain types of food. The 'weight' of a food can also be described in terms of the intensity of its flavour - such as delicate and more subtle flavour versus dishes that have a more robust and hearty flavour. Sauces can be the dominant flavour instead of the meat or main component. While poached fish is usually light-bodied and better served with a light white, if the fish is served with a heavy cream sauce it could be better balanced with a fuller bodied white wine or light red.

Food and wine pairing is like two people having a conversation; one must listen while the other speaks, or the result is a muddle. This means either the food or the wine will be the dominant focus of the pairing, with the other serving as a complement to enhance the enjoyment of the first. The rough guide below on the weight of different wines will give some guidance in choosing the right wine to accompany your cuisine.

SPARKLING WINE

CHAMPAGNE

Champagne is a variety of sparkling wine produced in the Champagne region of France. Champagne is typically produced from a few specific varieties of grapes, including Pinot Noir, Chardonnay and Pinot Meunier. Although these grapes are not all white, Champagne is typically a white wine due to extraction methods that minimise contact between the juice and skin. Pink Champagnes derive their colour from either longer contact between skin and juice or the addition of a small amount of red wine back into the Champagne.

WHITE WINES

SAUVIGNON BLANC

This is a wine to enjoy fresh and young, when it is still intensely aromatic and crisp. Under the right conditions this wine has high levels of acidity and flavours of newly cut grass, apple, tropical fruit, green fig, green pepper and gooseberries. Often aged in wood (sometimes labelled Fumé Blanc), there are unwooded examples that do extremely well with bottle aging, maintaining their structure, acidity and fruit.

VIRGIN EARTH - Langeberg / Garcia An array of wild gooseberry, with hints of bell peppers and tropical fruits	2015	R 300

PINOT GRIS

Pinot Grigio (Pinot Gris) is a white grape variety. It is thought to be a mutant clone to the Pinot Noir grape. The wines produced from this grape can vary in colour from a golden yellow to copper and even a light shade of pink. In South Africa, Pinot Grigios are lighter bodied with a crisp, refreshing taste of subtropical and stone fruit with some spicy notes.

CRAVEN WINES – Stellenbosch Skin contact, pale red colour, cherry, apricot and fynbos, good freshness and acidity	2016	R 360
-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	------	-------

RIESLING

Riesling (Rhine Riesling) has adapted well to South Africa's soil and climate. It produces very full, flavourful wines with excellent fruit acids that develop a honeyed depth of ripe apricots and peaches.

Riesling wine has a particular affinity for a touch of sweetness in savoury dishes and its generous, sweet fruit character suit typical South African cuisine.

SÉMILLON

If there were such a thing, this would be the ultimate 'food' wine. Sémillon is appreciated for its rounded, lanoline-like quality with its honey and citrus tones enhanced by oak aging. When young, it often displays herbaceous, grassy flavours but with age this wine becomes rich, luscious, even more lanoline-textured and increasingly honeyed and toasty.

CHARDONNAY

This cultivar originated in the Burgundy wine region of eastern France and is now grown wherever wine is produced. The Chardonnay grape itself is very neutral, with many of the flavours commonly associated with the grape being derived from influences such as terroir and oak. It is vinified in many different styles, from the lean, crisp mineral wines of Chablis, France to New World wines with tropical fruit flavours and lots of oak.

CHENIN BLANC

Chenin Blanc was first planted in 1655 and is the most widely planted white grape variety in South Africa. Characterised by its versatility, Chenin Blanc produces good natural wines covering the whole spectrum from sweet to dry, as well as sherry and sparkling wine, and is also used for distilling brandy and other spirits. South Africa’s climate provides favourable conditions for this cultivar, which needs a lot of sun to ripen properly, bringing out its intense fruit flavours and softening the acidity.

RED WINES

PINOT NOIR

This is a grape that has a bit of an identity crisis: it is a red grape variety that thinks and behaves like a white grape. Once matured in the cellar, it turns out to be one of the world's greatest red wines with a red berry fruit character, silken texture and gamely complexity. This is the only wine that succeeds in combining elegance with the whole spectrum of up-front fruit flavours of raspberries, strawberries, cherries and cranberries as well as violets and roses. As the wine ages it will become more gamely, with an undertone of compost / forest floor or a well hung leg of lamb.

PINOTAGE

Pinotage is a unique South African grape. It was created in South Africa in 1925 by Abraham Izak Perold, the first Professor of Viticulture at Stellenbosch University. Perold was attempting to combine the best qualities of the robust Cinsault and Pinot Noir. It has great depth of colour, with a vibrant blue or purple tinge. It ages better than most other red wines, developing a smokey meat complexity, strong raspberry scents and hints of bananas. A robust pepperiness and when aged in oak barrels, develop added chocolate and coffee flavours.

MERLOT

Merlot is one of the primary grapes in Bordeaux where it is the most widely planted variety and the main on the right bank. The Merlot vine tends to come into season much quicker than other red varieties. South African farmers have tried to find a happy medium, locating the grapes within Paarl and Stellenbosch areas, but mainly upon estates in colder areas. This allows the grape to bud and produce fruit in relatively warm conditions, while the overall chill of the area prevents the grape from ripening too soon.

Grenache is one of the most widely planted red wine grape varieties in the world. It ripens late, so it needs hot, dry conditions such as those found in Spain, the south of France, South Africa and California. It is generally spicy, berry-flavored and soft on the palate with relatively high alcohol content. It needs careful control of yields for best results. It tends to lack acid, tannin and colour and is usually blended with other varieties such as Syrah, Carignan and Cinsault. Grenache is the dominant variety in most Southern Rhône wines, especially in Châteauneuf-du-Pape where it is typically over 80% of the blend.

RED BLENDS

Blending (assemblage in French) is the process of mixing together different varietals to obtain a balanced, harmonious wine, taking the best from each varietal (for freshness, acidity, body, sugar level, etc). Blending takes years to master and it is always a difficult task to maintain consistency over different vintages, since the quality or ripeness of the grapes can change drastically from one year to another. The most popular South African blends are the Bordeaux blend (usually Cabernet Sauvignon based) and Rhône Blend (Shiraz based), not forgetting the Cape Blend with the addition of Pinotage.

DESSERT WINES

The Cape winelands have a long history of making sweet wines or 'stickies' (also called 'soetes' in Afrikaans). This dates back to the luscious dessert wines of Constantia which were world-famous in the 18th and 19th centuries.

This category remains consistently strong in South Africa

NOBLE LATE HARVEST

Botrytis Cinerea is a mold that develops on grapes in the vineyard known as Noble Rot. When carefully cultivated, Botrytis causes the grape to shrivel, concentrating and intensifying both the sweetness and flavour. In addition, the acidity levels remain high, which prevents the wines from being too sweet resulting in an opulent, rich, almost oily texture with upfront fruit flavours in a honeyed juice. South Africa's Noble Late Harvest wines are far heavier and sweeter than our European counterparts. This is due to our warmer climate, which results in higher sugar levels and more intense flavours.

STRAW WINE

Straw wine, or raisin wine, is a wine made from grapes that have been dried to concentrate their juice. The result is similar to that of ice wine processes, but suitable for warmer climates. The classic method dries clusters of grapes on mats of straw in the sun, but some regions dry them under cover, on roofs, or on modern racks, while some hang up on the grapes or leave them to dry on the vine.

CIGARS

We do not know when it was first grown, or smoked, but we can be pretty certain that the inhabitants of Europe were unaware of tobacco until after the explorer Christopher Columbus' epic voyage of 1492. Columbus is generally credited with the introduction of tobacco to Europe. Two of Columbus' crewmen during his 1492 journey, Rodrigo de Jerez and Luis de Torres, are said to have encountered tobacco for the first time on the island of Hispaniola, when natives presented them with dry leaves that spread a peculiar fragrance. Tobacco was widely diffused among all of the islands of the Caribbean and therefore they again encountered it in Cuba where Columbus and his men had settled. His sailors reported that the Taínos on the island of Cuba smoked a primitive form of cigar, with twisted, dried tobacco leaves rolled in other leaves such as palm or plantain.

CAPE WINEMAKERS GUILD (CWG)

CAPE WINEMAKERS GUILD

Innovation, benchmarking and the sharing of knowledge spanning three decades of winemaking excellence, is the proud accomplishment of the Cape Winemakers Guild, which celebrates its 36th anniversary this year.

The Guild, an association of some of the finest winemakers recognised for their high standards of craftsmanship, has evolved over the past 36 years into a body of 47 members who jointly represent the pinnacle of South African wine achievement.

It all began on 24 August 1982 when eight enthusiastic winemakers with a singular vision got together to establish the Cape Independent Winemakers Guild. A ground-breaking association of independent winemakers, the members had one objective in mind: to pool their resources and knowledge in order to craft great South African wines that would stand out amongst the best in the world. From the onset, knowledge and sharing was the major focus of the Guild and members would taste wines from around the world and compare them to their own wines. Each experts in their respective fields, Guild members have played a significant role in the development of the South African wine industry. From the making of champion port-style wines, the establishment of Méthode Cap Classique and Cape blends, to the opening up of new, cooler wine regions, the introduction of sustainable farming and environmentally responsible wines, Guild members have always been at the forefront of innovation.
